

References to Ask from When Planning a Trip

Friends

Some of your friends who have gone to the location you're going to visit before can give a firsthand experience about visiting the place.

Colleagues

Your work colleagues who previously went on business trips can give recommendations about tourist places that they've visited during these trips.

Read Reviews

Reviews can provide reviews and feedbacks from so many people about places that these people have visited in recent years.

Travel Agency

As befits their jobs, these agencies are experienced in taking guests and guiding them during holiday trips.

